Warsaw Old Town (Polish: Stare Miasto or Starówka) – the oldest part of Warsaw, most prominent tourist attraction in Warsaw. The heart of area: Old Town Market Place (Polish: Rynek Starego Miasta), which dates back to the end of the 13th century. Medieval architecture: city walls, St. John’s Cathedral, Barbican. When heading to Old Town from more modern center of Warsaw the visitors’ first view is on Castle Square with Royal Castle and Zygmunt’s Column. Throughout the centuries until late 18th century Royal Castle served as the official residence of the Polish monarchs. After being leveled before the Nazis left, The Old Town was masterfully reconstructed to reflect the atmosphere of past days. This part of Warsaw with its cobblestone Gothic streets and alleyways, baroque palaces, numerous churches and houses is placed on the UNESCO’s list of World Heritage Sites as “an outstanding example of a near-total reconstruction of a span of history covering the period from 13th to the 20th century.

Krakowskie Przedmieście Royal Avenue, literally: Cracow’s Suburb, is the best known and most prestigious street in Poland. The street is the northernmost part of Warsaw's Royal Route linking the Royal Castle and Old Town with King John III Sobieski’s 17th century Wilanów Palace, located 7 miles away. Krakowskie Przedmieście is surrounded by historic palaces, churches and manor houses, the most notable places are Presidential Palace, Warsaw University, Polish Academy of Science in Staszic Palace, Nicolaus Copernicus monument where Krakowskie Przedmiescie changes to Nowy Świat Street (literally: New World Street).

Nowy Świat Street is the part of the Royal Route, running between Świetokrzyska Street (literally: Holy Cross Street) through interesting Aleje Jerozolimskie (literally: Jerusalem Avenue) southwards Three Crosses Square (Polish: Plac Trzech Krzyży), very close to Conference main location at Sheraton Hotel. At the intersection between Nowy Świat and Aleje Jerozolimskie you can find The Palm – near 15-meter artificial palm planted in the middle of traffic island, the tree that cannot grow in Poland. Until the 16th century the Łazienki Park is a vast park where capital citizens go for long walks. It is neighboring Royal Route. The Palace on the Island – the central point of the park – was the summer residence of the last king of Poland – Stanisław August Poniatowski. The Palace hosted famous Thursday dinners in which scholars and poet took part. There are other architecture treasures there: orangery, an amphitheatre, Museum of Hunting and Horse-riding, Myśliwiecki Palace and numerous free-standing sculptures. For more information visit: https://www. lazienki-krolewskie.pl/en

Wilanów Palace is the last stop on the Royal Route. It is the baroque gem of Warsaw. It was the home of King Jan III Sobieski, the vanquisher of the Turk at Vienna, who stopped their march through Europe in 1683. You can visit king's apartments which include the Chinese, Dutch and Antiquities rooms. Surrounding park is a perfect place to rest or to stroll through the gardens, beautiful figures, animals and plants. Visit: http://www.wilanow-palac.pl/ for more information.

The Place of Culture and Science is one of the highest and the most recognizable building in Warsaw. You must go up to the observation deck on the 30th floor of the building and see the beautiful panorama of the city. By the way take a look at the socialist realist sculptures placed in the niches of the palace's façade. Visit: http://www.pkin.pl/eng for more information.

Worth visiting museums:
